Wednesday 21st October 2026

Halloween Poetry Features

The Pumpkin

A plump, playful pumpkin sat beside the gate, glowing in the darkness while it waited very late,
the moon above smiled brightly at its cheerful face.

The flickering flame inside danced with delight,
as the pumpkin laughed softly through the spooky night,
watching tiny bats swirl through the air.

The mischievous mist crept across the ground,
while the pumpkin winked proudly at each strange sound, guarding the garden without a care.

The whistling wind rushed around the trees,
and the pumpkin greeted kindly the chilly breeze,
as leaves skipped past in a golden stream.

When morning arrived with the first warm light, the pumpkin yawned sleepily after Halloween night,
then rested quietly as if in a dream.

Key:

Alliteration

Personification

Rhyming words